

The Campaign for Colorado State University
COLLEGE OF APPLIED HUMAN SCIENCES

---

Endowed Faculty Positions

Gift Opportunity - $750,000 - $3,000,000

Create your legacy by supporting a special area of interest and establishing a foothold for that program in perpetuity.

The reasons for establishing endowed chairs are varied, unique, and most always, with personal stories. The decision yields many benefits to people and programs.

Endowed positions (Chairs) benefit students by providing mentorship and direct access to world-class scholars, and offering unique credentials upon employment. Benefits to the program include opportunities for a more diverse curriculum and the means to attract, retain, and honor distinguished faculty members.

Endowed positions provide a mark of success which leverages other support through gifts and grants. The chair holder benefits by enjoying an enduring connection with the benefactors and holding a place of honor within the University. You benefit by creating a legacy of support for an academic area, and establishing a foothold for that program in perpetuity.

At CSU, there are various set endowment gift levels for specific purposes. The gift may be funded in one lump sum, in installments, or through planned gifts such as estates and trusts.

Mike Pagliassotti (center) is the holder of the Lillian Fountain Smith Chair and a leading scientist studying type 2 diabetes and obesity.

Opportunities to fund endowed faculty positions are available in the following programs:

Center on Aging

Construction Management

Education

Ethnographic Textiles

Health and Exercise Science

HABIC (Human Animal Bond in Colorado)

Human Development and Family Studies

Marriage and Family Therapy

Nutrition

Occupational Therapy

Social Work

To learn more, contact Lori Sims at 970.491.5669 or Lori.Sims@colostate.edu.