

The Campaign for Colorado State University
COLLEGE OF APPLIED HUMAN SCIENCES

Institute for the Built Environment
Gift Opportunity - $5,000,000

Connecting students with real world application of environmental sustainability.

Your gift to name and sustain the Institute for the Built Environment will provide the needed support to fund an endowed faculty position, as well as resources to ensure the mission and vision of the program is carried out in perpetuity.

The IBE faculty - internationally renowned and award winning experts in their field - are transforming the building industry and inspiring the next generation of industry professionals to embrace sustainability as an essential component of all building projects.

Focusing on environmental stewardship, the goals of the IBE are to:

- optimize and reflect nature in built environments
- encourage human equality and cultural sensitivity in the design process
- build understanding, collaboration, and a multidisciplinary knowledge base for sustainability issues.

CSU's strength and breadth of expertise in environmental research and education is historic and leading edge. IBE is centrally positioned to create and share knowledge with researchers and programs across the University, with the shared goal of sustainable solutions to environmental problems.

To learn more, contact Lori Sims at 970.491.5669 or Lori.Sims@colostate.edu.

